Dear Ms King and Mr Burkin,

Thank you for the email.

I apologise for the long wait we had to get comments from Dr Wightman.

The comments did not object to the principle of the extensions. However, he feels the orangery should be more modest in design and scale.

The roof lantern should definitely be reduced in size, the height should also be reduced so it does not protrude above the eaves of the existing single storey gable element to the south elevation. He also requests that the junction between the new parapet of the orangery and the existing single storey gable element be better detailed so he can judge the impact.

He had no objection to the other single storey extension with gable end roof or the removal of a section of the external wall from the host building to access the extension.
