Hi Sian.

I'll resend the first floor plan this afternoon with scale....apologies....and will sort out elevations, hopefully later today but otherwise at the weekend.

Can you tell me which measurement isn't to scale as matter of interest?

During the pre-planning phase Zac Denton told me that he would discuss with me any issues arising from my formal application, rather than just a 'yes or no' and wondered if there was any way of saying how long it might be before I hear something?

Thanks again for your help Sian.

Best regards

Jon

Morning Jon

With the elevations if you print them off and add a scale/ scale bar then resend as a PDF that would be fine. On the existing first floor plan there isn't a scale. On all plans there is just one dimension that doesn't measure to scale however as this dimension isn't necessarily needed with your permission I can remove it for you.

Kind regards

Sian

Hi again Sian.

How do these plans below look. Do they have everything you need?

Elevations are a little more tricky as, on elevations, my programme doesn't show measurements, or have the ability to print to a specific scale or scale bar.

All I can suggest is that I print them off, manually add a scale bar, and then either photograph and send to you as pdf, or send via mail. would this be acceptable? Otherwise I am at a bit of a loss to be honest.

Thanks for your advice.

Best regards

Jon

Thanks for the prompt response Sian, and apologies for the error.

How long do I have to come back to you on this?

Best regards

Dear Mr Tanner

Thank you for your email, however the plans need to have a stated scale on the plan itself, this scale needs to be a metric scale such as 1:50 or 1:100 not 1 metre. As the plans have dimension a scale bar wont be necessary however the dimensions much measure to the stated scale.

The elevations are also required to be PDF documents with a standard metric scale and a scale bar would be required on these.

Kind regards

Sian Eggington
