Hi

I have just realised that you might not be accepting applications by post.
I sent the attached application, with required copies, in the early part of last month, together with a cheque to the value of £116.00. I have received no confirmation that it arrived at your end and therefore thought it worth sending by email. If my assumption is correct please accept the attached as an application and let me have details of where I make the payment by BACS
