Dear David

The revisions look to be more acceptable, subject to the distance shown between the 1st floor addition being at least 1 metre from the shared boundary.

Unfortunately as the advertisement period of the application has already passed I can't accept these as a revision to this application. We can either proceed with a refusal or withdraw and then re-apply for the revised scheme.

Kind regards

Peter

Peter

Thanks for your email. I agree that a gable extension would be preferable but the client offered the hipped end solution to the neighbour in the hope that it would be sufficient, so I don't think we can go back on that. I have illustrated our discussed alternative on the attached drawings. Do you think these will find favour? I don't suppose you can consider these as substitute plans for the existing application?
