NICKY

thanks for your response. Appreciated.

I have revised dwg 03 as noted. Thanks for spotting this. I have also checked the dims on the block plan and can confirm that on screen untranslated from the supplier that the scale bar is 90m. I have reissued this with my dimension overlaid. Also I have reduced the line thickness for the outline of the garage and moved the measure point. The new measure is scaled on screen by the measuring tool.

I do hope that all this is acceptable to you.

Good Afternoon

Thank you for your email and the attached information.

In Dauns absence I have checked the documents received, and have a slight discrepancy with the measurements on the Block Plan. I have measured the scale bar to be 89m and not 90m, and the distance to the rear boundary 27.5m. Please can you check and confirm that the measurements provided are correct.

I have also checked the plans already submitted, and on Dwg 3 Existing Elevations, the elevations have been labelled Proposed. Please amend accordingly and re submit.

Kind Regards

Nicky Moore
