Dear Mr Carver,

Thank you for the additional information regarding the above. I have discussed the situation with both my managers, and have shown them the information regarding the size of the equipment required for the grass cutting operation. Unfortunately, they are both still of the opinion that the maximum footprint of building that would be allowed would be a 7 x 10m barn, with a hipped roof reaching a maximum height of approximately 5m.

Of course you are entitled to submit an application for something of a larger size, in the knowledge that it is likely to be refused, and you would then have the opportunity to appeal against the decision of the Council.

I appreciate this isn't the response you were hoping for, but trust it helps you decide how to progress with any application.

Kind Regards,

Amelia Stroud
