Dear Ms Harris,

I have sought further advice from the Tree Officer in relation to the amended plans and when this has been received, it will be added to the website.

Kind Regards

Good morning Simon,

I appreciate that consultation for the above proposed development Has concluded, however, they have been so many changes to the plans and so many different recommendations that it is hard not to respond. Us, along with our neighbours, or following this closely as we are opposite the proposed development on the Northern border. As you can imagine, this is a very stressful and uncertain time for us. I was interested to see the new proposed development without the three plots Along the northern border as proposed by the Tree Officer. I note that you then emailed the developer To say that your decision would be in line with the tree officer unless they made amendments to the plan. I was therefore surprised to find that the plan is pretty much exactly the same, but with a line protecting the trees, Rather than removing plots 2,3 and 4 as asked. I am rather new to this whole business, but was hoping I might get some reassurance from you that because they have not change the plan as requested, that you would still be in support of the Tree Officer's view, that it should be rejected with these three properties still there?

I'm so sorry to email you, but this has been such a concern and stress to us.

Kindest Regards

Emily Harris
