Name: Bronze Age Activity and Roman Occupation, Yapton Deserted Medieval Village and the Parish Church of St Mary, Yapton

Grade: Amber Date Assigned: 02/12/2013 Amended: 17/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

A Bronze Age hoard was found in a hoard near Yapton. It consisted of eight socketed celts, six with loops, six rings and some copper cake. It is in the British Museum. A late Bronze Age pot was found in Yapton, just to N. of Drove Lane and a few yards from the W. bank of the disused Chichester - Arundel canal. The restored pot is in Worthing Museum and is analogous to type A1 pottery of the late Bronze Age.

A Romano-British occupation site was indicated by a scatter of pottery and tile on the surface of a ploughed field 'off the end of Mill View Road, Yapton, where a ditch has been culverted'. Finds included coarse ware, a fragment of flue tile, several loom weights and coins of Victorinus (268-270), a dupondius of Vespasian, a sesterius of 1st or 2nd Century and a 3rd Century barbarous radiate. The finds are retained by the finder. There are traces of enclosures visible as cropmarks on air photographs. Surface finds of Roman artefacts including coarse ware, flue tile and loom weights off the end of Mill View Road may indicate the site of a Roman villa.

In the pasture fields adjacent to the published site of Yapton Place and St. Mary's Church are a number of banks and linear depressions demarcating roughly rectangular areas. They probably represent the remains of a Medieval village. There was a manor at Yapton in Elizabethan times. Yapton Place was reconstructed in 1800, and apparently almost demolished in 1829. The only remains were a dovecot in a field, on the E. side of which the house is thought to have been situated. St. Mary's Church, Yapton, is a complete church of c.1180-1220. The chancel is of mid C13.

A barge canal was originally projected to run from the Arun at Ford to Salterns in Chichester Harbour, with a branch from Hunston to Chichester. The W. section from Salterns to Chichester was finally cut as a ship canal. From Hunston the barge canal ran for 9.75 miles to Ford, where two locks took it down to the Arun. Work began in 1818 and the canal opened in 1822, but by 1833 it had fallen into disuse. It survives as an earthwork along most of its line except where destroyed by agriculture or development.

The Historic Farmstead of Bonhams is a 19th century U-Plan regular courtyard farmstead with additional detached elements to the main plan. The farmhouse is detached and set away from the yard. It is within a village location and is extant (no apparent alteration).

Within the area is a unique design air raid shelter which would have been built at the instigation of the landowner. Brick built with blast wall across the entrance, probably for four people.

Name: Bronze Age Remains and World War Two Features at Butlins, Bognor Regis

Grade: Amber Date Assigned: 13/09/2013 Amended: 17/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

Scattered tree trunks radiocarbon dated to the Early Bronze Age. Bronze Age activity in the form of pottery, worked flints and a fence line were found along the western side of the ancient channel. Pollen evidence and dendrochronological analysis suggest that there had been a wood in the area, its demise being due to rising relative sea levels. [Approximate extent of site shown in mapping]. World War Two features include Pillboxes and anti-tank blocks.

Name: Bronze Age, Iron Age and Roman Settlement Activity, Middleton-on-Sea

Grade: Amber Date Assigned: 18/09/2013 Amended: 17/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

Late Bronze Age and Iron Age pottery were recovered from the excavation of a Romano-British settlement, or farmstead. The main occupation spanned the C1-C2, with a continuation, perhaps less intensely, into the C3 and C4. A ditch, pits, post-holes and many stake-holes were recorded. A rectangular post hole building c.7.5m x 3m was abandoned before or during the C2. Finds include pottery, a quern fragment, cattle and sheep bones, and charred plant remains (crops including wheat, barley, pea and possibly oats). This may be part of a larger site extending westwards and southwards.

Name: Earthworks within Gobblestubbs Copse, Dalesdown Wood, Rewell Wood, Rewell Hill, Fairmile Bottom Park Farm, Arundel Medieval Park and the 'War Dyke', Arundel

Grade: Red Date Assigned: 20/11/2012 Amended: 16/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

Multi-period earthworks within Gobblestubbs Copse (Scheduled Monument 1005895), Dalesdown Wood (Scheduled Monument 1005893), Rewell Wood, Rewell Hill (Scheduled Monument 1003736), Fairmile Bottom Park Farm, Arundel Medieval Park (Registered Park and Garden 1000170) and the 'War Dyke' (Scheduled Monument 1002983) within Arundel Park.

DesignUID: DWS8132

Name: Earthworks within Gobblestubby Copse, Dalesdown Wood, Rewell Wood,

Gobblestubby Copse - The earthworks in Gobblestubby Copse comprised of contiguous rectangular or irregular enclosures surrounded by a ditch between two banks associated with wandering bivallate ditches, sometimes duplicated or triplicated, which seem to continue across the banks where intersection occurs - Scheduled Monument 1005895.

Dalesdown Wood - A late Bronze Age finders hoard was found in Dalesdown Wood, on a prominent corner of the earthworks. A series of earthworks total nearly three miles of banks and ditches covering an area of c.80 acres. Their pattern and appearance suggest that they are contemporary with the Medieval Park - Scheduled Monument 1005893.

Rewell Wood - Rectangular earthwork comprising a shallow ditch with low side banks enclosing an area c.60m x 55m. These enclosures are probably pastoral enclosures dating to the Medieval period. An arrangement of ditches in places with banks extending from the earthwork and proceeding to enclose three rectangular spaces. A Bronze Age barrow was also noted in Rewell Wood.

Rewell Hill - A small but fairly typical Romano-British 'circus' was found within the angle made by the main earthwork where it turns to descend into Fairmile Bottom. It consists of two kidney shaped banks enclosing a hollow. Bronze Age and Roman pottery have been found within the vicinity. Also a linear earthwork starting at West Stubbs Copse runs north to the brow of the hill where it turns abruptly west, descending the hill - Scheduled Monument 1003736.

Fairmile Bottom - Earthworks on the slope of Fairmile Bottom comprise a number of terraced areas which appear to have been produced by quarrying into the hillslope; a quantity of waste flint flakes of possible Neolithic date were found in association. A possible field system has also been identified dating to the Iron Age - Romano-British period

'War Dyke' - An impressive earthwork of a bank with two side ditches and a bank and single ditch. It runs generally along the top of steep north-facing slopes, and makes full use of natural defences -Scheduled Monument 1002983 and Registered Park and Garden 1000170. An enclosure may be associated with the War Dyke.

Medieval Park, Arundel - The Medieval Park, with Ruelle (Rewell?) wood belonging to it, is shown on maps of 1646, 1734, 1778 and C18 and is mentioned in documents dating from 1299 onwards - Registered Park and Garden 1000170.

Park Farm - Possible Iron Age-Romano-British enclosures and a field system were revealed at Park Farm

Slindon Pit - Palaeolithic flint implements have been found at Slindon Pit.

Additional sites include Prehistoric flint tools, two possible 17th century Tile or Lime Kilns and a brickyard on the north side of Chichester Road and a LBA posthole containing flintwork, and fire cracked flint. A significant quantity of LBA to EIA pottery was recovered within the surrounding area. To the south a large number of archaeological features were discovered dating from the Late Bronze Age to the Late Medieval period. A layer of occupation debris was recorded sealing another possible ditch/gully and a large pit. One pit contained worked flint and a single small sherd of Bronze Age pottery, whilst the remaining pits contained medieval pottery. Another area revealed more features all dated to the Saxo-Norman and later medieval periods.

Name: Roman Occupation, WalbertonGrade: AmberDate Assigned: 18/09/2013Amended: 17/02/2016Revoked:*Legal Description

An excavation ditch produced very large quantities of Roman coarse greyware sherds, some very worn samian and a few colour coated sherds, together with some fragments of tegula and imbrex and a possible fragment of water pipe. There were no examples of tesserae or flue tile. None of the greywares was particularly late, so a tentative dating of c. late 2nd - 3rd century is suggested. The quantity of material found within the area may indicate a Roman villa site. Further Roman material discovered indicates to cremation burials.

Legal Description

There was a chapel at Lidsey in 1282, services were still held there in 1544. It was out of use by 1583. A group of buildings shown on Yeakell and Gardner's map of 1778 may represent the chapel site. The field is under permanent pasture and ground disturbance indicates the existence of former buildings. Much glass and stone has been found in the surrounding area, which would seem a more likely site for the chapel.

Grade: Red Date Assigned: 18/09/2013 Amended: 17/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

St. George's Church, Eastergate, has Norman walling but with Roman tile and brick built into the S. wall of the nave. C14 in the nave, three-light C15 at the E end, three-light C15 at the W end - built with a bequest of 1534, and already with simple arched and uncusped heads. Two evaluation trenches revealed the presence of two adjacent north-south ditches, the more substantial of which contained pottery of 11th-13th century date. These may represent earlier churchyard boundaries c. 2-3m east of the present churchyard wall.

Name: The Parish Church of St Mary, Barnham Court, Church Farm Historic Farmstead and Tithe Barn, Barnham

Grade: Red Date Assigned: 18/09/2013 Amended: 17/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

St. Mary's Church, Barnham, has a nave of around 1100 survives, with signs of a vanished north aisle of c1180. The chancel and porch are C13 and there was more rebuilding in the early C15. Barnham Court is an outstanding C17 residence. It is believed to have been finished c.1640. The house and outbuildings are original and untouched. The tithe barn at Barnham Court measured c.46m by 10m. The type of construction, with queen posts and hammer braces, would seem to have been C16 - now demolished. Church Farm is a 19th century F-Plan regular courtyard farmstead with the presence of a second yard with one main yard evident. The farmhouse is detached and set away from the yard.

Arun 032

Name: The Parish Church of St Mary, Walberton

Grade: Red Date Assigned: 18/09/2013 Amended: 17/02/2016 Revoked:

Legal Description

St. Mary's Church, Walberton, had apparent pre-Conquest work in the nave walls before it was almost completely rebuilt in c.1945. It had arches of possible late C11 date and the walls were largely composed of Roman bricks. A gable cross of possible pre-Conquest date was found in the W. wall. A trench excavated in the churchyard which uncovered 15 graves, the absolute dating of which was not possible. It is thought that the majority are C19 cut into Anglo-Saxon/ medieval archaeological deposits. There were up to four levels, ten of the graves are pre C19. A large quantity of late Anglo-Saxon pottery was recovered.
