SUMMARY OF BUILDING

First World War memorial, 1921, with later additions for the Second World War.

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Bognor Regis and District War Memorial, which stands at the junction of Clarence Road and Belmont Street, is listed at Grade II for the following principal reasons:

- * Historic interest: as an eloquent witness to the tragic impact of world events on this local community, and the sacrifice it has made in the conflicts of the C20;
- * Architectural interest: a memorial pillar in the Classical style;
- * Group value: with Bognor Regis Town Hal (Grade II).

HISTORY

A temporary First World War memorial was erected in 1919 on the High Street, Bognor Regis. The permanent stone memorial, erected in Waterloo Square, was unveiled by Major-General Sir J F Daniell KCMG on 11 November 1921 at a ceremony attended by local dignitaries and clergy. Mr Bridges RIBA, the Town Surveyor, and Mr Tillott Barlow collaborated in the design and the memorial was built by Messrs Seymour. Cartage for the materials was donated by Captain R W Angell and the Urban District Council provided the land: public subscriptions collected in 13 December 1920 covered the remaining costs.

The memorial was moved to its current position in front of the Town Hall in 1929. An inscription was added following the Second World War to mark that conflict and tablets with commemorated names were constructed either side of the First World War memorial.

DETAILS

MATERIALS: Cornish grey granite.

DESCRIPTION: The memorial is set back from the road on a corner of Belmont Street and Clarence Road, in front of Bognor Regis Town Hall (Grade II-listed). The memorial comprises a tall pillar, rectangular in plan, capped with a decorated entablature. The pillar stands on a plinth that is raised on a three-stepped base.

DesignUID: DWS8734 Name: Bognor Regis and District War Memorial

Four margents appear to hang from the entablature, one at each corner of the pillar. A wreath carved in low relief on the front of the pillar encloses the dates 1914/ 1918. Below this an inscription reads TO THE MEMORY OF THE/ GLORIOUS DEAD/ OF BOGNOR & DISTRICT/ 1939/ 1945.

on the front face of the plinth an inscription reads "SONS OF THIS PLACE LET THIS OF YOU BE SAID/ THAT YOU WHO LIVE ARE WORTHY OF YOUR DEAD/ THESE GAVE THEIR LIVES THAT YOU WHO KIVE MAY REAP/ A RICHER HARVEST ERE YOU ALL ASLEEP". This is taken from Reverend Royds' 'Inscriptions Suggested for War Memorials'. A small bronze plaque is attached to the uppermost step of the base, reading THE NAMES OF THOSE WHOSE MEMORY IS/ HERE COMMEMORATED WILL BE FOUND ON THE/ TABLET IN THE VESTIBULE OF THE/ WAR MEMORIAL HOSPITAL.

SUBSIDUARY FEATURES: Four small lower vases are placed on each corner of the memorial's bottom step. Two freestanding stone walls either side of the memorial display Welsh slate panels bearing 260 names of the fallen from the Second World War. These feature are not of special interest.

CLARENCE ROAD 24-JAN-03

Bognor Regis Town Hall

II

Town hall. Designed in 1929 by Charles Cowles-Voysey in neo-Georgian style; detailing by John Bower. Builder H W Seymour. Symmetrical splayed design with central spur to rear in yellow Flemish bond brickwork with brown brick and stone dressings and hipped pantiled roof with elaborate central wooden clock face and cupola with copper dome. Three storeys; nine windows to front, two to sides, thirteen to rear.

EXTERIOR: One of the principal features is the central wooden clock tower which has a clock face with curved pediment over, four Roman Doric columns, copper dome and finial. North or entrance front has 16-pane sashes to second floor with moulded stone band below. Ground and first floor windows are 20-pane sashes with horns. Central first floor French windows with cornice and brackets on shell stops opening out on to balcony above three bay portico with square piers, stone capitals and frieze. Original double doors with four vertical panels each. Foundation stones on each side of door. Splayed side elevations have two 16-pane sashes to second floor, French windows to first floor opening on to balcony with cement balustrading on brackets and 20-pane window to ground floor. South front has similar treatment of windows and cornices but there is a central projection of two storeys three windows containing the Council Chamber on first floor, a tall chimney and one storey section at the end. Small late C20 flat-roofed extension to east.

INTERIOR: Entrance hall has central Imperial staircase for the use of council members with cast iron balustrading with scrollwork and column newel, coffered ceiling and pilasters. First floor Council Chamber has oak panelling, two oak piers and two oak double doors with circular glazed apertures. Sides have two staircases with plain cast iron balustrading for the use of council officers.

Included as a well-planned and well-detailed example of a small town hall of the inter-war period, by the leading exponent of the genre.

Legal Description

De-Listing Assessment: The building should be removed from the List of Buildings of Special Architectural or Historic Interest because it is no longer extant and its special interest has therefore been lost.

SUMMARY OF BUILDING

An C18 farmhouse that was extended, doubling it in size, c 1930. A date stone inscribed BWS 1727 has been inserted at a later date.

REASONS FOR REMOVING THE BUILDING FROM THE LIST

Bonhams, a house of later C17 or C18 origin, remodelled and extended in the early to mid-C20 and subsequently much altered internally has been removed from the Statutory List for the following principal reasons: *

Architectural interest: evidence of the original house has been eroded by successive remodelling and extensions, and the early to mid-C20 work, itself altered, does not contribute to its special interest.

SELECTED SOURCES

None.

Decision to De-list:

CONCLUSION: Bonhams should be de-listed, but remains of local interest

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION DECISION:

Bonhams; a house of later C17 or C18 origin, remodelled and extended in the early to mid-C20 and subsequently much altered internally, should be de-listed for the following principal reasons:

*Architectural interest: evidence of the original house has been much eroded by successive remodelling and extensions, and the early to mid-C20 work, itself altered, does not contribute to its special interest.

HISTORY: Bonhams was an 18th century farmhouse that was extended, doubling its size, c.1930. A date stone inscribed BWS 1727 has been inserted at a later date.

The Enclosure Map of 1826 and Tithe Award Map of 1844 depict a single range aligned roughly north-south with the gable to the lane, with a range, presumably of farm buildings, to the west forming an open sided yard. In the mid-19th century it is likely that house was part of the estate of Thomas Sanctuary. By 1876 (1st edition Ordnance Survey Map) the farm building had been demolished and the house appears to have been subdivided into two cottages, the southern section with a smaller added bay or outshut beyond the south gable wall and a small addition, probably a porch, to the north-west of the northern section. The historic roof is built in two sections which may reflect this division. The 1912 edition of the OS map suggests that the house had reverted to a single dwelling. Indeed in 1901 the estate bailiff and his family lived at Flansham and evidence suggests that it was in this house.

By 1939 the house had assumed a very different form with the addition of a parallel range and outbuildings built against the northwest elevation, the removal of the outshuts and apparent extension of the house southwards. A small cellar was excavated beneath the added range. Externally, this new work very closely matched the original building, down to the small hand-made bricks used in the storey band. In the 1960s when the house was refurbished, the stairs were replaced and the dining room was panelled. In 2008 the house was again renovated; work included a new hall floor and reinstatement of the dining room panelling.

Historically associated with the house but now in separate curtilage is the Cottage or former garage and chauffeur's accommodation, built c.1930. It has been fully converted to domestic use and while the upper floor retains its original disposal of windows and the back door remains in place, the garage has been enclosed and refitted as living space.

With the main garden is a rectangular sunk rose garden enclosed by stone parapet walls and shallow piers, also probably c.1930.

DETAILS: House, formerly farmhouse, in the later 19th century apparently subdivided into 2 units, before reverting to a single house.

MATERIALS: Flint cobble and knapped flint with flush red, red-brown and vitrified grey brick dressings and brick storey band. Plain tile roofs.

PLAN: Main range in four unequal bays, the earliest section of the house to the centre and the north, either side of a large internal T-stack. It is likely that it was built to a lobby entry plan with an entrance opening against the stack. There is a blocked opening or disturbance to the eastern elevation opposite the stack coinciding with a shallow internal space, now cupboards, to the east of the stack. Gable end stacks to the north, with one internal and one external flue; the stack to the south is external. Shallower parallel range to north-west in three main bays beneath a hipped roof. Large external stack to southernmost bay.

All of two storeys except for single-storey service buildings to north beneath deep half-hipped roofs and a later 20th century flat-roofed conservatory to south.

EXTERIOR: The earliest area of external wall is in the northern gable wall and western return, built of coursed flint cobbles with red, red/brown and grey brick quoins and brick tumbling at the eaves. The stack has an added external flue. The east elevation has a roughly central 20th century pitched-roofed porch leading to a later 20th century door with a small first floor window above. To either side, three bays of later 20th century two-light timber casements.

The earliest section of the house to the north of the entrance has a brick storey band and window openings have cambered brick arches and red, red-brown and grey brick quoins. The apparently blocked entrance, obscured by foliage, has full height brick quoins and a flat head formed by the storey band. A date panel inscribed BWS 1727 has been inserted at first floor level between the northern bays. The southern section of the building imitates the earlier section; the storey band being of slightly smaller brick than elsewhere. Large external stack to south gable wall.

The north-west elevation has a five-window range of similar casements on two storeys and a large external brick stack. The storey band is again of smaller brick. The entrance is set behind a large late 20th century glazed porch.

To north, a single-storey pantry or larder and former outhouses beneath hipped tile roofs.

INTERIOR: The northern ground floor room of the main house has a large open fireplace, with rebuilt brick linings and an exposed bressumer and a plain reworked axial beam; restored or introduced broad ledge and plank doors to pantry and cupboard to east of stack, both with strap hinges. The central room (dining room) south of the stack has: a large open fireplace also with rebuilt brick linings; some 1930s parquet flooring remains in place; full-height panelling reinstated 2008. The south-east room (drawing room) has faux exposed transverse ceiling beams with lambs tongue stops, a 1930s brick fireplace and parquet floor. On the first floor, exposed axial beam and transverse beam, chamfered with lambs tongue stops. In the central bay of the roof space, lathe and plaster ceiling in situ. The original roof pitch survives beneath the western extension. The roof was built in two sections, and is heavily repaired with the introduction of new timber, much of it 19th century machine cut or 20th century. To the north of the opening to the roof space is a single tier purlin roof, with evidence of scorch-marked timber, some of it rough hewn. To the south, a light scantling roof of two tiers of purlins, on the west pegged to the principal rafter, and with collars and some straight wind braces.

Legal Description

745/18/40
FELPHAM ROAD
22-JUL-49
FELPHAM (West side)
CHURCH OF ST MARY

II* Large church in a village which is now part of the outskirts of Bognor Regis. C12 origins, c.1200 north arcade; c.1300 south arcade and clerestory; c.1350 chancel; C15 tower and C15 raising and refenestration of the south aisle; porch of c.1800; 1899 rector's vestry; 1939 choir vestry.

MATERIALS: Stone rubble and flint with red tiled roofs. The tower has had extensive C20 tile repair.

PLAN: Plan of nave, chancel and west tower. Three-bay aisles: north aisle under lean-to roof with clerestory to nave; south aisle under catslide roof. South porch; rector's vestry at west end of north aisle; choir vestry on north side with link to the north aisle.

EXTERIOR: Handsome buttressed three-bay C14 chancel with diagonal buttresses to the east wall and buttresses with set-offs to the north and south walls. Three-light east window with Flamboyant tracery, north and south windows tall and two-light with Decorated tracery and pretty ogival arched priest's doorway on south side. On the north side the nave has two small trefoil-headed clerestory windows above the lean-to aisle roof, the aisle has three large gabled dormer windows with trefoil-headed lancets and a plate-traceried east window. The south aisle has square-headed windows, those flanking the porch with hoodmoulds. Handsome three-stage embattled C15 tower with diagonal buttresses, a low pyramidal tiled roof and a chequerboard frieze above the lower stage. The west face has a worn doorway and a three-light Perpendicular-style window. Two-light segmental-headed belfry windows; slate clock face in diagonal frame on south side commemorating Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee. The 1899 rector's vestry at the north end of the north aisle continues the form of the medieval aisle and has a two-light square-headed west window. The 1939 flint choir vestry is large and sited parallel to the north aisle. C.1800 gabled south porch with C15 or early C16 plank and cover strip south door with studs.

INTERIOR: Double hollow-chamfered chancel arch, the arch mouldings dying into the responds. Three-bay c.1200 north arcade with circular piers and square capital, narrow chamfers to the slightly pointed arches and some carved detail on the arcade wall above the capitals. Three-bay c.1300 south arcade with cylindrical piers with moulded capitals and double-chamfered arches. Tall double-chamfered tower arch. The responds have moulded capitals which extend across the west wall as string courses. C19 or early C20 crown post and tie beam nave roof with two-way bracing to the crown posts and a boarded ceiling. Probably C19 collar rafter chancel roof with ashlar pieces. The roof is ceiled with plaster board above the collars, which have straight braces. C14 ogival arched piscine in chancel. 1870s/1880s reredos with a gabled marble frame containing mosaic and tile Annunciation scene, with an integral mosaic and tile dado across the east wall; C19 encaustic floor tiles to the sanctuary; C19 timber Gothic sanctuary rail. C19 choir stalls and nave benches with ends with poppyhead finials. C19 timber drum pulpit with blind traceried sides, 'refashioned in 1978' (plaque). Font probably early C13 with a square Wealden marble bowl decorated with round-headed arcading. 1963 bell-ringers' gallery in tower.

Wall monuments include an oval tablet to Thomas Steele, Recorder of Chichester, d.1775 and a plain tablet to William Hayley, d.1820, poet and biographer of the poet Cowper inscribed with a long poem by Mrs Opie. C13 parish chest in rector's vestry not seen at time of visit, August 2002.

SUMMARY OF IMPORTANCE: St Mary's Church has special significance as a multi-phase medieval church, where each phase is clearly legible. It also has a C13 clerestory, which is rare in Sussex, and a good font, probably early C13. The C19 mosaic and tile Annunciation scene altar piece and a wall plaque to the poet, William Hayley adds interest, but the reredos and seating are of typical C19 character.

Legal Description

745/9/22 BERSTED STREET 22-JUL-49 SOUTH BERSTED (South side) CHURCH OF ST MARY MAGDALENE

GV II* DATES OF MAIN PHASES, NAME OF ARCHITECT: 13th century. Major restoration 1879-81 by Ewan Christian.

MATERIALS:

Flint and Bognor tone, much of it cobble stones, with ashlar dressings. Red clay tile roofs. Shingled spire.

PLAN:

Nave, chancel, N and S aisles, W tower, N organ chamber/chapel with small vestry to N, N porch.

EXTERIOR:

The most striking feature is the 13th-century W tower and its massive buttresses to the N, W and S faces. Seen from the W they make the tower look much wider than it actually is. They terminate in large offsets about the levels of the bases of the miniscule, single-light lancet openings of the bell-stage. A W doorway (now blocked) is sandwiched tightly between the two W buttresses. The tower is crowned by a shingled, splay-foot spire which has small openings in the cardinal directions and in line with the tops of the corner chamfers. The nave and aisles are under continuous roofs but with those over the aisles having a shallower pitch than that on the nave. The chancel, although as wide as the nave, has a lower roof ridge. The N organ chamber/chapel has its own gabled roof. The fenestration of the church is varied and is very largely new or renewed work from the late 19th-century restoration. The graded triple lancets of the E window are a new design of c1880. The date of 1880 (1881 on the S aisle) is recorded on a number of cast-iron hopper heads along with the initials SMM (the architect for the restoration, Ewan Christian, often used such dated rainwater goods). The N porch, with a timber superstructure, on low stone walls dates from the 19th century.

INTERIOR:

The walls are all plastered and whitened. On each side of the nave is a 13th-century arcade of five bays, with double-chamfered arches and with the piers being alternately round and octagonal with moulded capitals (unusually, circular even over the octagonal piers) and bases with angle spurs. The responds are square with corbels to carry the inner order. On the S side of the nave the arcade leans out markedly to the S. The W wall has a pointed arch formerly opening into the tower, into which is inserted (perhaps as a crutch at a time when the state of the tower gave cause for concern) a smaller pointed arch of one order with chamfered imposts. There is no arch between the nave and chancel, the division being marked by a tympanic filling above the level of the wall-plate in the nave: upright timbers are exposed between which are plastered infillings. The two-bay arcade to the N chapel has a circular piers with a moulded capital and base. The roofs are probably entirely of the 1879-81 restoration: they are seven-sided in the nave and chancel, and lean-tos in the aisles.

PRINCIPAL FIXTURES:

Most of the fixtures date from the late 19th-century restoration but on the W wall of the nave is a wall monument to Sir Richard Hotham (d 1799), a wealthy hatter from Southwark, who was responsible for starting the development of Bognor Regis as a resort in the 1780s: the St Mary Magdalene's register has an entry for 17 January 1787 noting the laying of: 'The first foundation stone at Bognor in the Parish of Berstead'. The church also has a medieval chest with a three-plank front bearing roundels of chip-carving (a modern oak lining has been added).

The 19th-century seating scheme is substantially intact and has pews with shaped ends. The font of 1898 is a replacement of a 12th-century one and has a round bowl with rich carving in a free Decorated style. The pulpit is wooden, has pierced sides and stands on a tapering stone base. Above the N doorway is a bust of Archbishop Tait of Canterbury (d 1882). The E lancets are filled with good glass in vibrant colours by Powell's and date from 1880. Other stained glass windows date from the late 19th and early 20th centuries: that at the E end of the S aisle is also by Powell's, 1905.

SUBSIDIARY FEATURES:

The church has a most attractive, well-treed setting in its churchyard which retains a very intact collection of its tombstones dating back to the 18th century. Next to the N porch is a massive stone slab, probably from a medieval altar, and a taper-sided tombstone of the 13th century. In the angle of the tower and S aisle is a 19th-century obelisk to the Fitzpatrick family. To the SE of the church is a hall dating from 1969. E of the church are the former schools (now a nursery), perhaps dating from c1880.

HISTORY:

The village of Bersted is now part of the built-up area of Bognor Regis. It was originally a chapel of Pagham. A vicarage had been ordained before 1291 when it was valued at £6 13s 4d. The right of presentation was with the rector of Pagham until about 1360 but from 1382 the archbishop of Canterbury was patron. The right of burial seems to have been acquired in 1405 when the bishop of Chichester consecrated the church and churchyard. It was styled a parish church in 1465 but this status was definitely denied it in about 1535.

The fabric of the church dates mainly from the 13th century. The appearance of the tower was radically altered by the addition of the large buttresses, built no doubt at a time when the condition of the tower gave cause for concern and the work may have been the 'repairs of the steeple' recorded in 1541 (VCH). Prior to the Victorian restoration in 1879-81 the side walls of the aisles appear to have been higher with two tiers of windows on either side, no doubt to illuminate the gallery erected in 1764. The 1879-81 restorer was Ewan Christian who carried out much refenestration, added the organ/chamber and N porch, and extensively furnished the church and provided new roofs. Christian (1814-95) was a prolific architect whose speciality was church work. He was schooled at Christ's Hospital until 1829 when he was articled to Matthew Habershon. He broadened his education with travel on the continent in 1834 and the following year assisted one of the entrants in the New Palace of Westminster competition with the drawings. He worked in the offices of William Railton in London and then John Brown in Norwich. He commenced practice in 1842 and was appointed architect to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners in 1851, a post which brought many commissions, especially in the chancels for which the Commissioners were responsible. He gained a reputation for efficiency and bringing jobs in on time and on budget.

There were alterations in 2002 when a number of pews were removed to create a facility for tea, coffee etc.

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION:

The church of St Mary Magdalene, Bersted, Bognor Regis, is designated at Grade II* for the following principal reasons: * It is a building of special interest in having extensive fabric dating back to the 13th century. Its tower is of remarkable and distinctive appearance thanks to the addition of massive buttresses, possibly in the mid-16th century. * It was extensively restored in 1879-81 by the well-known architect Ewan Christian when it assumed an appearance which has changed little since. * It is of interest as the burial place of Sir Richard Hotham, the founder of modern Bognor, to whom there is a monument in the church.

House. 1938-9 in Arts and Crafts style similar to work of the architect Baillie Scott. Built of painted textured brickwork, tile hanging and thatched roof with 2 brick chimney stacks. The property is angled to take maximum advantage of the south facing garden front rather in the manner of an Edwardian 'Butterfly' house. 2 storeys 5 windows, oak windows with leaded lights. North or entrance front has right side half-hipped gable, the upper floors tile hung the lower floor painted brick. 1st floor has 5 light tall oak mullioned window. Ground floor has shorter 5 light mullioned windows. The gable overhangs on deep wooden brackets. To the left of the gable is a 2 light oak mullioned window and 4 centred arched wooden doorcase with studded oak door and decorative large hinges. To the left of this is the principal feature of the north front, a projecting semi circular 2 storey staircase tower with 8 light mullioned window with leaded lights and stone cills, the 2 centre lights taller. To the left of this is an eyebrow dormer and mullioned window to ground floor. The south front has painted brick ground floor and right side gable. 3 of the 1st floor bays are tile hung with a recess between the 1st and 3rd bay from the left with brackets and wooden balcony, 2 light mullioned windows to 1st floor and French window below. Other windows are 4 or 5 light mullioned windows on 1st floor and 4 or 5 light mullioned and transomed casements to ground floor. Gable has two 2-light mullioned windows to ground floor. Interior not seen but sales particulars refer to oak joinery and marble fittings of the period.

War memorial. Circa 1920. Sculptor Morris Harding RBS SO. Catafalque type structure built of solid stone blocks, six courses in height with the top course shaped to represent a mound on which a full sized lion sits. Below the lion's paws is a carved wreath surrounding a FOR VALOUR inscription carved in Art Nouveau style. Below this on the front face of the cenotaph is an eleven line inscription in bold and well spaced capitals defining the purpose of the memorial. Names carved round the base. A remarkably realistic effect at the rear is the handling of the lion's tail. The whole is a dignified piece of symbolism, somewhat in the manner of Lutyens, highly original in concept and imaginatively sited. Additions have been made for the Second World War.

2. This house was originally called Chapel House, and was built in 1793 by Sir Richard Hotham, the founder of Bognor, as his own residence. The Chapel from which it took its name was used as a Chapel of Ease until St John's Chapel was built in 1882, and was pulled down later in the century. The house was then called Bersted Lodge and subsequently Hotham Lodge. 2 storeys and semi-basement. 10 windows. Stuccoed. Cornice and parapet. 2 large bays of 3 windows each on both floors with one window on the outer side of them and 2 between. The bays are linked on the ground floor by an arcaded verandah raised above the ground level with an iron railing between the columns and approach at each end by a curved flight of steps with handrail, (that of the south flight broken off). Above the verandah is an iron balcony with hood supported on trellis columns. Moulded frieze and dentilled cornice between the verandah and the balcony. On the north side of the north bay is a similar arcaded verandah approached by a curved flight of steps from the north front and iron balcony over without hood. On the south side of the south bay is a terrace with iron railing (formerly having a ground floor room built out with frieze, cornice and balcony without hood over, and one large window with semi-circular head). The south front has a curved bay containing 3 windows. At the north-west corner of the house is a tower built in 4 sections, each set back within the lower. Clock face on the north and south sides of the top section and cupola containing a bell over supported on 8 columns with weather vane surmounting it. Interior has moulded cornices to the ceilings and architraves to the doors, mantelpieces on columns or with Grecian decoration.

Legal Description

The Manor House, a small villa built during the third quarter of the C19, but subsequently altered, no longer meets the required level of special architectural or historic interest and should be de-listed.

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION DECISION

The Manor House, a small villa built during the third quarter of the C19, but subsequently altered, is recommended for removal from the List for the following principal reasons:

* Date: the fabric and documentary sources confirm a mid- to later C19 rather than the previously assigned early C19 date;

* Alteration and loss: alteration to the plan form and loss of original fixtures and joinery.

HISTORY

The Manor House was one of a row of villas which were erected on what was then the fringe of Bognor Regis. All but The Manor House have been demolished, making way for road improvements. Previously the land was within Bersted Parish, and the building does not appear on the Tithe Map of 1847, but it appears to have been built by 1877. The 1877 and 1898 1:2,500 Ordnance Survey Maps for Sussex show a building of the same footprint as at present, with its porch, but with a small canted bay to the north-west, a small rectangular addition to the south-east and a narrow rear wing. The maps of 1912 and 1932 show that further extensions had been added to the north and north-west corner beyond the present footprint, by which time the canted bay on the north-west elevation had been removed.

The building was last occupied in the late 2000s, having been adapted for use as a nursing home. Previously it is said to have housed a library and museum.

DETAILS

Small suburban villa, built in the third quarter of the C19, altered internally and extended to the rear in the C20.

MATERIALS

Rendered brick, the ground floor with banded rustication on the front (south-west) and north-west elevations, rendered stacks and hipped slate roofs.

PLAN

It is roughly square on plan, facing south-west, beneath parallel hipped roofs. It is of two storeys in three bays, with a central entrance and gable end stacks. The later C20 single-storey extension to the rear replaces earlier service ranges.

EXTERIOR

The house has a symmetrical front elevation with a projecting, single-storey enclosed porch with moulded pilasters and cornice below a shallow pedimented roof, and has an outer part-glazed door with glazed margin panels. Ground floor windows are full height beneath flat arches with a keystone incorporated in the rustication and have late C19 sashes with margin lights to the sides, and top and bottom of the sashes. First floor window openings have flat arches and shallow cills and ornate iron window guards; windows are horned sashes. On all elevations the roof has plain, shallow projecting eaves. There is a plat band where there is no rustication. On the western return a single ground floor sash window has a flat arch, while first floor sash window openings have rendered, slightly cambered arches. The eastern return has a single first floor window beneath a flat arch. The rear has a single, full-height, margin-glazed sash window on the ground floor, similar to the front windows, and irregular first floor sashes. The northern corner is rusticated on the ground floor.

INTERIOR

The porch has a black and white tiled floor and inner, double, part-glazed doors beneath an overlight. The stair has moulded tread ends, stick balusters, two per tread, a columnar newel and a mahogany rail with a curtain with dark mahogany or ebony inlay to the head of the newel. Ground floor windows have splayed openings with panelled linings, first floor windows have square openings, also lined. Doors and windows have moulded architraves and on the ground floor doors are of six shallow moulded panels. On the first floor the two rooms to each side have been reorganised as three rooms and reduced in width, with new doorways opening off a narrow lobby created behind the original entrances. Doors are later C20. throughout the houses there are ogee moulded skirting's and mid-C20 coved cornices; there are no chimneypieces.

The site is enclosed by a brick boundary wall supporting a timber fence rather than the flint wall mentioned in the original list entry.

15/10030 Manorial Dovecote at Church Farm

II

Dove cote. C17. Circular structure of flint with red brick quoin-shaped patterns at regular intervals and cornice of 3 courses of brick. Conical tiled roof with 2 hipped dormers. Cupola for bird entry missing. The small size of the dovecote indicates use solely for the Lord of the Manor. This dovecote appears to be identified in MSS 12894 of the West Sussex Record Office, a lease dated 17 October 1667 for a 'capital messuage with dove house, in Yapton'.

Legal Description

The following building shall be added to the list;

SU 90 NE WALBERTON

Monument to Charles Cook in St Mary's Churchyard

8/10022 II

Headstone. Circa 1767. Marks the grave of Charles and Sarah Cook. Height 127cm: width 90cm. It commemorates the death of Charles Cook who lost his life by the fall of a tree on 20th March 1767 aged 30 years and also his widow Sarah who died in 1788. The subject matter is quite remarkable and unique with high quality Rococo carving and fine lettering. At top the Head of God with pen and book, and below Him a semi-circle of clouds; from its centre hangs a scales. On either side of the God-head inverted cornucopia and trumpeting cherubs flying through clouds. On either side of the God-head inverted cornucopia and trumpeting cherubs flying through clouds. Below this the scene of the accident has been depicted: a hatted gentleman with spade and pick raises a hand in horror ; in front of him an uprooted tree beneath which lies a body and close to it a tricorner hat. To the left of the tree stands a skeleton with poised arrow and to its right sits Father Time, a scythe in one hand and a half-filled hourglass in the other. There is an oakleaf scroll along the bottom of the bas-relief. Below the scene the stone is divided into two panels. The left one tells of Charles Cook; the right in memory of Sarah Cook. At the base are 2 poems, 8 lines for Charles, 4 for Sarah. They are in strongly contrasting styles and rhythm.

UPPER BOGNOR ROAD 1. 5401 (North Side)
No 53 (Mordington) SZ 9499 18/17 22.4.71. IT GV 2. This is a somewhat similar house to St Michaels but not a pair with it. Early C19. 3 storeys and basement. 8 windows. Stuccoed stone colour. Eaves cornice. 2 bays of 3 windows each on all floors with hipped slate roofs. All glazing bars missing. The house itself is rather dull but is worth including for its portico at the head of 5 steps. This has 4 Doric columns, triglyph frieze, and pediment over the centre. The door has 6 moulded panels (top 4 glazed) and a semi-circular fanlight over it and is flanked by 2 similar doorways, with semi-circular fanlights over. The east front has a small verandah up 5 steps, with dentilled cornice, a pediment over the centre and similar triple door to that in the front portico but without the fanlights, glazed in, one light engraved with Grecian ornament. The vestibule has 2 Corinthian columns axial to centre of middle door and a pair of very shallow elliptical arches across the rear. Nos 41 to 57 (odd), No 55A, Nos 65 to 71 (odd) and all the walls form a group.

SUMMARY OF BUILDING

Roman Catholic priory church of 1881 by J S Hansom in Early English Gothic style, with sympathetic additions of 1955-7 by W C Mangan.

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

The Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Sorrows, Bognor Regis,, of 1881 by J S Hansom with additions by W C Mangan in 1955-7, is listed at Grade II for the following principal reasons:

*Architectural interest: this is a good quality Early English-style Roman Catholic church with a lofty nave by Hansom and tactful later additions by Mangan; the impressive west front with its plate tracery rose window makes a strong contribution to the local townscape;

* Architects: the church is the work of two significant Catholic architects: the nave was designed by Joseph Stanislaus Hansom - the son and partner of his more famous father Joseph Hansom - and the large scale and bold handling of the Bognor church are typical of their work. The west end was completed in the 1950s to a different but complimentary design by W C Mangan, who was a prolific and successful Catholic architect in the mid-C20.

HISTORY

The Roman Catholic mission in Bognor Regis was founded in 1880, when the town was still relatively small and had a worshipping Catholic population of sixty. A large church was built by the Servite Order, with a priory adjoining on the south side. The Order is one of the five original Catholic mendicant orders and was founded in 1233 in Italy. The architect of the new church was Joseph Stanislaus Hansom, who had previously collaborated with his father J A Hansom on the design of the Servite church of Our Lady of Dolours in Fulham, which was completed in 1876. Only five bays of the nave of the Bognor church were completed; the proposed transepts, Lady Chapel and sanctuary were not begun. An early photograph on the parish website shows that the internal walls of the building were originally richly decorated and the temporary east wall was covered with figurative painting. In 1939 W C Mangan of Preston was commissioned to complete the building, but the project was interrupted by the war and work did not begin until the mid-1950s. Mangan added one more bay to the nave, together with a long apsidal ended sanctuary, a north east Lady Chapel and a single storey flat-roofed 'cloister' range on the south side linking the church to the monastery building.

Hansom's Servite monastery building alongside the church was demolished in the early 1980s, and replaced by an apartment block. In 1985 the sanctuary of the church was reordered by Ormsby of Scarisbrick. Since that time a parish centre has been built in the former monastery grounds to the south of the church. The Servites withdrew from Bognor Regis in 1994.

DETAILS

Roman Catholic church of 1881 by Joseph Stanislaus Hansom in Early English style with sympathetic additions, by Wilfrid Clarence Mangan, built in 1955-57.

MATERIALS

Hansom's church is built of white brick with dressings of Westwood stone from Corsham in Wiltshire. Mangan's additions are of yellow brick with bath stone dressings. The pitched main roofs are covered with Welsh slate.

PLAN

The main body of the church is a wide and tall aisleless nave with three full-height shallow projections on each side. The long apsidal-ended sanctuary is narrower than the nave, with a Lady Chapel on its northern side.

EXTERIOR

The principal façade of the church is the impressive west front facing Clarence Road. The width of the nave is defined by stepped buttresses with image niches in their heads. Between them the lower part of the wall is plain, with a projecting gabled porch in the centre. Above the porch is a continuous band of arcading pierced by small pointed windows. Above the arcading in the head of the gable is a massive rose window in plate tracery. On either side of the nave proper are single bay projections with a lancet window at lower level and the band of arcading continued above. Originally the monastery building stood immediately to the south of the church, the north and south sides are of six bays and have lean-to aisles intersected by three full-height single-bay transeptal projections. On the north side the outer walls of both aisles and projections are blind, with stepped triple lancet windows in the recessed clerestory. This produces an oddly bleak appearance. On the south side both projections and clerestory have stepped triple lancets. The sanctuary is lower than the nave and slightly narrower. The side walls have three tall two-light traceried windows separated by pilaster buttresses, with two similar windows in the apse. On the north side of the sanctuary is the lower flat-roofed Lady Chapel; on the south side of the single-storey, flat-roofed 'cloister' with simple rectangular stone mullioned window openings.

INTERIOR

The nave is essentially a single volume space of great height. The church does not have continuous aisles but there are side chapels alternately low and full height under pointed arches alternately blind and open. Covering the whole nave is a tall pointed roof, boarded and panelled with the principal rafters brought down onto wall shafts between the bays of the clerestory. The western bay is filled by a timber organ gallery which was installed in 1922 and was enclosed beneath in the 1980s to form a vestibule. The floors are mostly modern parquet, but some earlier boarded flooring survives under the nave benches. The windows are clear glazed throughout. An unadorned pointed opening in the east wall of the nave leads to the apsidal-ended sanctuary, which has a plaster vaulted ceiling. The raised level of the sanctuary was brought forward into the eastern bay of the nave as part of a reordering in 1985. In the eastern bay of the nave an opening with a four-centred head leads to the Lady Chapel and there are similar openings on both sides of the sanctuary.

FURNISHINGS

Several individual furnishings survive from the original church. They include the altars in the side chapels (St Joseph and St Philip Bonizzi on the north side and St Teresa of Lisieux on the south side) and the reredos on the high altar. These were probably designed by J S Hansom. The reredos was re-set by Mangan and separated from the original high altar, which does not appear to survive. The sanctuary furnishings and the stone font probably date from the 1980s. The benches in the nave were probably original.

Legal Description

Roman Catholic Church. 1865, designed by C A Buckler, endowed by the Countess of Newburgh. Gothic style. Built of stone rubble with ashlar dressing and slate roof. Four bay nave, lower two bay chancels, south aisle and north porch. Traceried windows with leaded lights divided by buttresses.

EXTERIOR: Liturgical west front has cross-shaped saddlestone, large arched west window with five trefoil-headed lancets surmounted by three circular openings and smaller south aisle window with two trefoil-headed lights and trefoil above. Arched west door with recessed colonnettes. Liturgical south side has paired lancets with trefoil heads and quatrefoils above. Liturgical north side has windows with three trefoil-headed lancets and two circular lights. Gabled porch has trefoil-headed arch with sexfoil stone plaque above with the shield and mitre of St Richard of Chichester. Liturgical east front has arched window with three trefoil-headed lancets and above a central circular window flanked by trefoils.

INTERIOR: Nave roof has purlins and arched braces, supported on stone corbels. Original Buckler fittings survive including the carved stone altar with marble colonnettes to the chancel, carved stone altar with marble colonnettes to the Lady Chapel incorporating a statue of the Virgin and Child under a trefoil-headed canopy, and octagonal stone font with marble shafts to the columns, a stone pulpit with trefoil-headed cutouts and original pews. The west window has stained glass by Hardman, dated 1865, depicting the Virgin and Child to the centre and St Richard and St Anthony of Padua to the sides. A particularly fine marble Neo-Classical wall monument signed by Bertel Thorwaldsen and commemorating Anthony Earl of Newburgh (d.1814) depicts a kneeling woman and grieving angel either side of a central column. This is one of only three monuments by Thorwaldsen in England.

medieval palace of the Archbishops of Canterbury. Of this, there only remains part of a tower in the garden to the north west of the house. The house was then rebuilt by Sir Garet Kempe about 1560. It was altered in the C18 and C19 and then again by Mervyn Macartney in 1921. It is a mixture of these periods. The main portion is L-shaped with later additions to the north. The south front is largely C18. Two storeys and attic. Six windows. Four dormers. Faced with flints. Parapet. Flanked by octagonal turrets of C16 character with cupolas over. Sash windows without glazing bars. The west front is of C16 date and character, as altered in the C19 and C20. Three storeys and attic. Six windows. Three dormers. SUMMARY OF BUILDING

First World War memorial, unveiled on 5 March 1921, with further names added after the Second World War.

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Slindon War Memorial, unveiled on 5 March 1921, is listed at Grade II for the following principal reasons:

- * Historic interest: as an eloquent witness to the tragic impact of world events on this community, and the sacrifices it has made in the conflicts of the C20;
- * Architectural interest: a simple yet dignified limestone obelisk;

* Group value: with the church of St Mary (Grade I) and listed buildings opposite including Church House and houses on Church Hill (Grade II).

HISTORY

The aftermath of the First World War saw the biggest single wave of public commemoration ever with tens of thousands of memorials erected across England, both as a result of the huge impact the loss of three quarters of a million British lives had on communities and the official policy of not repatriating the dead, which meant that the memorials provided the main focus of the grief felt at this great loss.

One such memorial was raised at Slindon as a permanent testament to the sacrifice made by the members of the local community who lost their lives in the First World War. The memorial was designed by Mr A Booker and it commemorates 14 fallen local men. It was dedicated on 5 March 1921.

Following the Second World War, a dedication was added to commemorate the three fallen of that conflict.

Slindon War Memorial is located to the east of St Mary's Church on a small paved area within a garden enclosure demarcated by flint walling and hedges. A memorial garden was created within the enclosure in 1995 and in 2013 the memorial was cleaned and the lettering re-painted with the help of grant aid from the War Memorials Trust.

DETAILED

MATERIAL: limestone

DESCRIPTION: Slindon War Memorial comprises a tapering stone obelisk rising from a tapering plinth and stepped base. The plinth is inscribed with a dedication to the fallen from the First World War on the front face which reads: ERECTED BY MEMBERS AND FRIENDS/ OF THE VILLAGE CLUB IN MEMORY/ OF ALL WHO FELL IN THE GREAT WAR/ 1914 - 1918/ THE FOLLOWING ARE THE NAMES OF MEN FROM SLINDON/ (NAMES).

On the step immediately below this is a further inscription which reads: (NAMES)/ 1939 - 1945/ (NAMES).

12 windows. Stuccoed, the 3 east window bays cemented and probably later. Eaves cornice. Glazing bars intact. 2 bays of 3 windows each on all floors with hipped slate roofs. Between them is a large porch at the head of 6 steps with handrail, the porch having Doric columns, triglyph frieze and iron balcony over. The porch is glazed and has a flat segmental fanlight and 2 doorways in it, both with semi-circular fanlights. The east wing with the cemented front has a curved bay of 3 windows on the ground floor, with cornice and parapet over. In front of this and joining it to the easternmost of the pair of bays is a further very large curved bay containing 8 lights with fluted pilasters between the lights and iron balcony over similar to that above the porch. This bay is an addition, but apparently a contemporary one. Modern wings to the south-east and rear. Nos 41 to 57 (odd), No 55A, Nos 65 to 71 (odd) and all the walls form a group.

keystone of grey headers. 3-light lunette window above it on 2nd floor. Oval stone panel with the name Hothampton Crescent and cartouche in the tympanum of pediment. The centre doorway is approached by a double curved flight of 7 steps with handrail and railing edging the platform. There is an entrance to the basement beneath the centre of the block of the steps. The doorway has stuccoed pilasters, pediment on consoles, a frieze enriched with swags, and a rectangular fanlight. The other houses have simpler doorways at the head of straight steps with handrail. These doorways have Doric pilasters of painted wood, pediments and semi-circular fanlights, the east one without its divisions, though the fan of an inner door has them. Over the centre of the centre house is a small cupola, faced with slates and containing 4 sash windows facing the points of the compass with a dentilled cornice round it and leaden dome above. To the rear is a central full-height extension of contemporary period, having a very wide 3-window bay on all storeys. Nos 41 to 57 (odd), No 55A, Nos 65 to 71 (odd) and all the walls form a group.
