Dear Mr Davis,

I wish to object to the above planning application for 8 houses adjacent to Barnside in Hook Lane, Aldingbourne. Hook Lane, by its very name is a country thoroughfare with very little width. It is also a lane with numerous bends which need to be negotiated very carefully.

There have, in the past, been a number of accidents when the volume of traffic was increased due to another local road being closed because of flooding.

It is a lane that many walkers use for a stroll in the countryside not a stroll in a polluted atmosphere. There are also a number of horse riders using the lane as well as dog walkers and cyclists.

I bought the house I live in because of its semi rural location and I do not see why that has to change.

Surely the suggested site is outside the building boundaries too?

When Hook Lane was being used as an alternative to the usual route to work because that usual route was flooded, the deterioration of the edges of the road was noticeable and had to be dealt with by WSCC highways. Extra traffic would return us to this situation again.

We have, over the past few years, experienced a certain degree of flooding which has not been the case over the previous 25 years. This water is coming from somewhere and can only get worse if even more houses are built in Hook Lane.

There are many other things that could be included in this email. I understand that the proposed building site contravenes several Neighbourhood Plans so I continue to strongly object to the proposed building of 8 houses adjacent to Barnside in Hook Lane.

Yours sincerely,

Wendy E Corney (Mrs)
