

reg AW/237/19/PL Former Ship Inn, Aldwick

I believe that there is a current planning application to turn the former Ship Inn Pub in Aldwick into a Tesco Express type of store.

I wholly disagree with this application on the following ground-

1) Access for customers- the site is on a busy narrow road, with very little parking for customers

2) Access for store deliveries- the increased traffic planned with deliveries to the store by articulated lorries and vans would cause immense disruption to the local area and traffic.

An estimated 35 delivery slots per week is even more than previously agreed for Morrisons.

The Tesco Express on Aldwick Road is a fine example of causing traffic disruption with delivery lorries. It is rare at any time of day to easily get past them. And Aldwick Road is much wider than Aldwick Street.

3) Previous failure of Morrisons and My Local on this site prove that there is not a local demand for such a store, as already there are several good stores locally and another is simply not needed.

I hope that you can take this objection into consideration.

Dr Lisa Hall