

Dear Mr Davis,

We have lived in Aldwick for over forty years and frequently use Aldwick Street where the former public house, The Ship Inn, is situated.

This is, as I am sure you will be aware, a busy thoroughfare with no footpath on the north side and therefore access to a convenience store would be difficult and dangerous for pedestrians.

The site also has quite limited car parking availability and regular deliveries would add to the traffic problems and increase problems for pedestrians.

Also, the current application has a 66% increase in delivery slots which is unacceptable, in fact any delivery schedule which even mirrors the originally approved scheme (Morrisons) is far too excessive.

Another convenience store within a few metres of a similar business is disproportionate.

It is neither desirable nor wanted and Arun District Council should take account of the social effect on local residents with traffic, parking and road safety issues.

Your sincerely

Keith & Marian Warren
