Dear Colin Maynard

Development:

1 x Ailanthus Altissima (Tree of Heaven) to be felled.
Tree is far too large for plot and has now an extensive root system which is putting up endless suckers in the flowerbeds and lawns. I am also concerned that root system will spread to the beach as this is an area of NSI and the public is not allowed to disturb this area such as digging up roots.
I am also concerned that it will undermine my summer house and also move to the adjoining garden and cause damage there.
The long hot summer has proved ideal for this tree and the growth this year has been dynamic.
This is also an alien species and I intend to replace with a native species, slower growing and more in tune with an English garden environment. Possibly a silver birch.
I have taken advice from Ian Stevenson our local arborist who confirms my assessment and is prepared to undertake the work.

Location:

5 The Byeway Aldwick
