Dear Amber,

Thank you for your email.

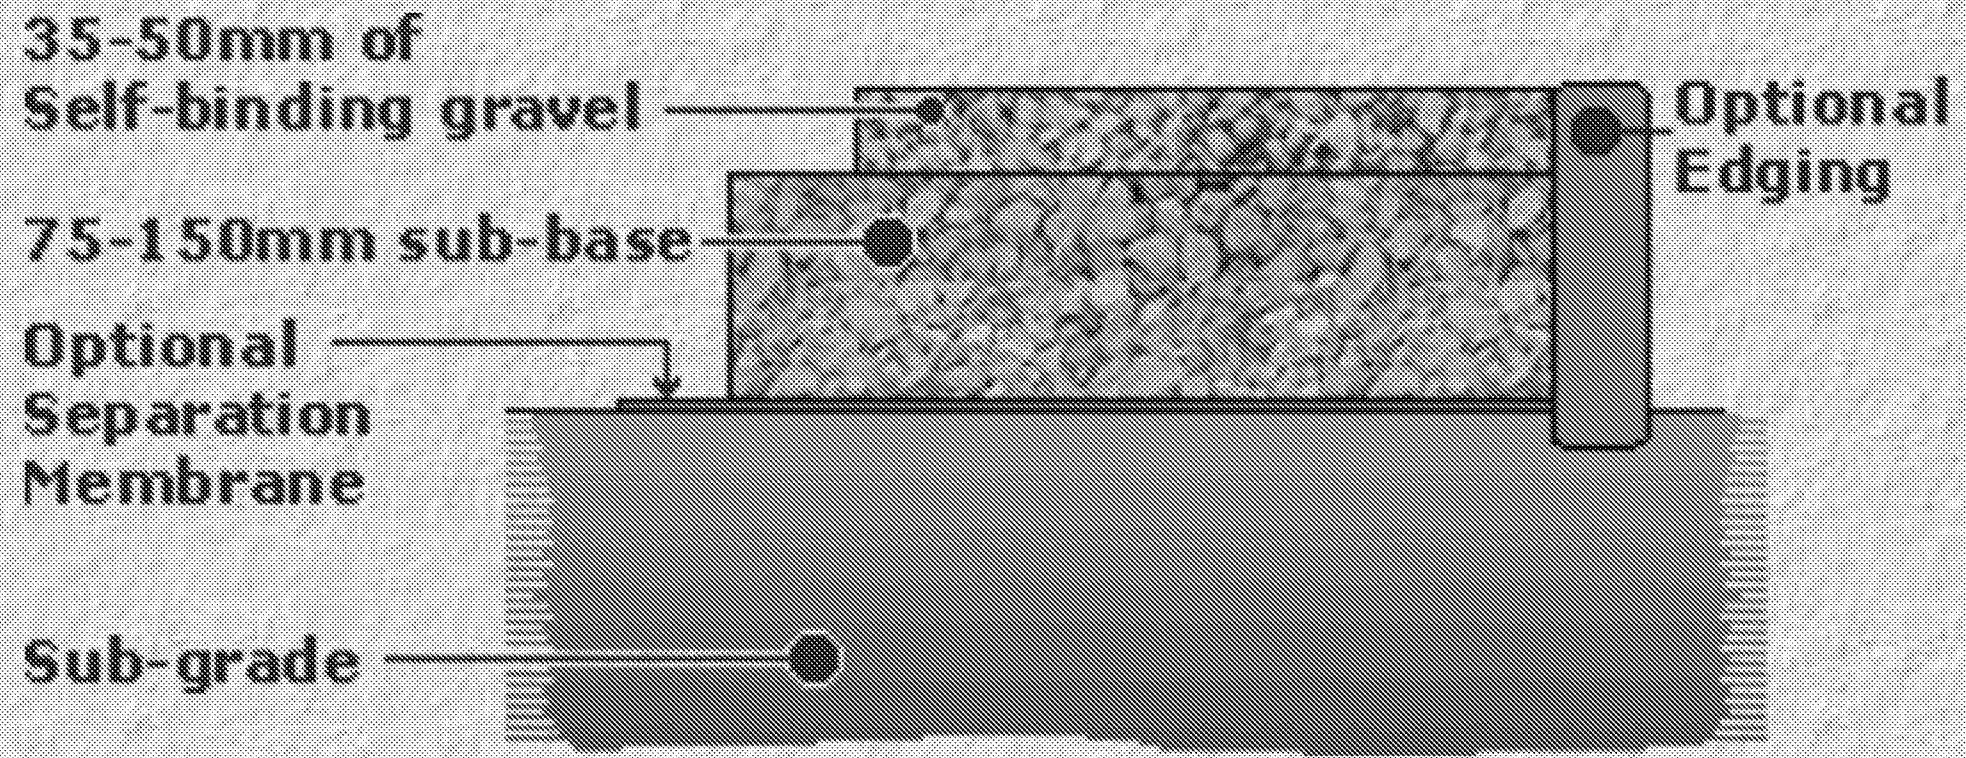

As requested, please find attached a picture of the cross section construction we aim to have for our driveway. I understand this is the professional constructional design and we will have it professionally constructed. We will have the optional separation membrane and aim to have wooden 'sleepers' for the edging.

The gate pillar will definately be very similar construction design and colour if not identical.

I hope this helps

Many thanks

Stephen & Sara

Construction cross-section

Please are you able to provide a sectional drawing showing the material and thickness of the proposed driveway.

Please are you able to confirm that the pillar will be constructed of matching bricks/material to that of the existing pillar.

Thank you

Kind Regards

Amber
