Dear Mr Mulcock

Further to visit to above regarding the Sycamore tree to the north boundary.

The tree is basically in good overall condition except for dieback in the upper crown where stubs had been left from previous works. These should be removed to live forks to promote healing.

Whilst doing so it would be of benefit to reduce the crown by thinning and removal of crossing limbs by 30%. Doing so would keep proportion of the Sycamore within reasonable bounds of road and house and hopefully enhance balance and appearance of said tree.

I hope this is of help.

Yours sincerely
