Hello Peter,

Yes, the Rugby Club access is much more suitable given it's width and generous radius. I'm satisfied.

Kind regards,

Dominic

Hi Dominic

Further to your comments regarding Barratts CMP – they have submitted a revised document (attached). Reference to the temporary access onto Roundstone Lane has been removed as they have got agreement to access the site through the adjoining rugby club grounds up until the formal access into site from Roundstone Lane is formed.

Please could you have a quick look over this and let me know if it would now be acceptable.

As for the Travel Plan, they are revising this and I will for it on once it is received.

Kind regards,
Peter

Hello Peter,

Please find attached the revised Construction management plan. I have omitted reference to the CEP drawing which upon reflection should not have been referenced at all. The layout detailed the temporary access from Roundstone lane, whereas the previous paragraph made specific reference to access through the Rugby Club. I hope this helps.

Following our conversation regarding the roof tile proposal, the provided sample is called Marley Rivendale not Thrutone. The website like is: <http://www.marleyeternit.co.uk/Roofing/Slates/Rivendale-Fibre-Cement-Slate.aspx>

As another proposal could the Mini Stonewold in black 63 or grey be considered? The grey I feel is a bit wishy-washy, the black is the closest representation to the Rivendale above. I can send you a sample if you wish? However a link is below for assistance.

Many Thanks

Darren
