LEGISLATIVE BACKGROUND

Section 192(2) Section 192(2) of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 states:-

If, on an application under this section, the local planning authority are provided with information satisfying them that the use or operations described in the application would be lawful if instituted or begun at the time of the application, they shall issue a certificate to that effect; and in any other case they shall refuse the application.

In this instance the proposed works and use of land will be assessed against the Caravan Sites Act 1960 and Part 5 of the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) Order 2015 as amended.

The definition of a caravan is set out in Part III of the Caravan Sites Act 1968 as

13.-(1) A structure designed or adapted for human habitation which-

- (a) is composed of not more than two sections separately constructed and designed to be assembled on a site by means of bolts, clamps or other devices ; and
- (b) is, when assembled, physically capable of being moved by road from one place to another (whether by being towed, or by being transported on a motor vehicle or trailer), shall not be treated as not being (or as not having been) a caravan within the meaning of by reason only that it cannot lawfully be so moved on a highway when assembled.

Twin-unit caravans.

(1) A structure designed or adapted for human habitation which

(a) is composed of not more than two sections separately constructed and designed to be assembled on a site by means of bolts, clamps or other devices; and

(b) is, when assembled, physically capable of being moved by road from one place to another (whether by being towed, or by being transported on a motor vehicle or trailer), shall not be treated as not being (or as not having been) a caravan within the meaning of Part I of the Caravan Sites and Control of Development Act 1960 by reason only that it cannot lawfully be so moved on a when assembled.

(2) For the purposes of Part I of the Caravan Sites and Control of Development Act 1960, the expression "caravan" shall not include a structure designed or adapted for human habitation which falls within paragraphs (a) and (b) of the foregoing subsection if its dimensions when assembled exceed any of the following limits, namely

(a) length (exclusive of any drawbar): (20 metres)

(b) width (6.8 metres);

(c) overall height of living accommodation (measured internally from the floor at the lowest level to the ceiling at the highest level) (3.05 metres).

(3) The Minister] or Secretary of State] may by order made by statutory instrument after consultation with such persons or bodies as appear to him to be concerned substitute for any figure mentioned in subsection (2) of this section such other figure as may be specified in the order.

(4) Any statutory instrument made by virtue of subsection (3) of this section shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.

CASES WHERE A CARAVAN SITE LICENCE IS NOT REQUIRED

Under the Caravan Sites and Control of Development Act 1960:-

FIRST SCHEDULE

Cases where a Caravan Site Licence is not required

Use within curtilage of a dwellinghouse

A site licence shall not be required for the use of land as a caravan site if the use is incidental to the enjoyment as such of a dwellinghouse within the curtilage of which the land is situated.

Part 5 of the Town and Country Planning Act General Permitted Development Order 2015 as amended Section 9 states:

A. Permitted development

The use of land, other than a building, as a caravan site in the circumstances referred to in paragraph A.2.

Condition

A.1 Development is permitted by Class A subject to the condition that the use is discontinued when the circumstances specified in paragraph A.2 cease to exist, and all caravans on the site are removed as soon as reasonably practicable.

Interpretation of Class A

A.2 The circumstances mentioned in Class A are those specified in paragraphs 2 to 10 of Schedule 1 to the 1960 Act (cases where a caravan site licence is not required), but in relation to those mentioned in paragraph 10 do not include use for winter quarters.

Case law shows caravans are not operational development under s55 and as the caravan is to be sited within residential curtilage as approved by a recent CLE do not represent a material change of use of land.

CONCLUSION

The caravan would measures up to 20metres by 6.8 metres and an internal height of up to 3.05 metres and the dimensions fall within the specified limits. As such ,it is considered that the proposed structure is a caravan within the meaning of Section 29 of the 1960 Act and, in this case, Section 13 of the 1968 Act as set out above in the legislative background section of this report.

The proposed unit is considered to meet the requirements of the Caravans Site Act 1968 and Caravan Sites and Control of Development Act 1960 and Part 5 of the Town and Country Planning Act General Permitted Development Order 2015 as amended.

It is also considered that its use, as described in the planning statement attached, would be for dependant relatives of the owners of the house. As such for the purposes of the above acts the use would be 'ancillary'.

The use applied for is therefore considered to be lawful.
