Hi Amber

I undertook my site/tree assessment earlier today.

The tree is an over-mature sycamore which is in poor physiological condition and unlikely to recover. There is a substantial amount of dieback and it is becoming hazardous. I have no problem with the tree being removed and see no reason to make an Order. While the loss of such a large and prominent tree is unfortunate, there are other trees in the area which will benefit from its removal and so no long-term loss of character will ensue.

As the 6week notice period has now expired, I suggest we decide not to make an Order. I have informed the applicant verbally that the work can go ahead.

Regards,

Mark
