A schematic diagram of a rectangular structure. The top half is a large rectangle with diagonal lines from each corner meeting at a central square. This central square contains a small circle. The bottom half is a trapezoid that tapers from the central square. At the base of the trapezoid are two small, separate rectangular blocks.

A line drawing of a house with a gabled roof, a chimney, and a small porch on the right side. The house is shown from a side profile, with the roofline and chimney clearly defined. The drawing is simple and uses black lines on a white background.

A detailed architectural line drawing of a two-story house. The house features a symmetrical facade with a gabled roof. A central chimney is positioned on the roof ridge. The front elevation includes four windows: two on the upper floor and two on the lower floor, each with a decorative lintel and sill. The lower floor also features two central doors with transoms. The entire drawing is rendered in black lines on a white background.

A line drawing of a house. The house has a gabled roof with a chimney on the right side. The roof is covered with horizontal lines representing shingles. The main body of the house is a rectangle with horizontal lines representing siding. On the left side, there is a small porch or overhang with a decorative bracket. The house is drawn in a simple, clean style with black outlines and hatching for shading.
