Ferring Conservation Group joins other amenity groups in objecting to this application. The previous application was for 191 houses - the revived one is for 176 houses but there is little difference otherwise. The main reasons for refusal last year were: out of character with the area, isolated development, not a natural extension of the built-up area of Angmering; and that the re-development of an existing par 3 golf course (pitch and putt) would be contrary to Policy OSR DM1 of the Local Plan.

We would add the 'severe impact' this development would have on the local highway network - taking into account the additional traffic arising from the recent grant of planning permission for 475 houses in the north Goring Gap,. For these and other reasons the harm done by the development would be significantly greater than any good done by getting nearer to the housing-site target figure imposed by the Government.

Please refuse this application - Ed Miller Secretary, Ferring Conservation Group)
