Michael, I have received some further plans. I responded to these on Friday. In a nutshell, I've questioned the benefit of the works proposed (the developers proposed cycleway extends only so far up the A29 before stopping, cyclists will then be expected to re-join carriageway; the route is therefore not continuous and of limited benefit). I've suggested that it would be more beneficial for the developer to contribute towards other WSCC led improvements rather than undertake these works.

Hi Ian,

Have you received any further information and plans from the applicant for Salt Box regarding the pedestrian crossing on Rowan Way; and the cyclepaths on Shripney Road and Rowan Way?

Kind regards,

Michael Eastham
