Objection to Development

Dear Ms Tomalova

I wish to object to the proposed development of the land adjoining Tesco Express in North Bersted. (BE/104/21/PL).

My property in Bedford Avenue lies directly to the south of the proposed development, with my back garden a few meters from the proposed new block of four houses.

I disagree with the applicant's assessment of the unused land to the rear of the former Rising Sun Public House. This area was the garden of the public house and as such had never been built on. The trees that the applicant seems to treat with a somewhat cavalier approach are mature and home to many species of birds, nesting or otherwise.

Apart from birds, an area of land such as this will be home to a considerable amount of other creatures, for example: insects and small mammals such as hedgehogs. Bats have also been seen. The whole area could be considered a haven for wildlife.

My wife and I get great pleasure from attracting this wildlife into our garden, hedgehogs are frequent visitors, often several. I understand from neighbours that they also see hedgehogs in their gardens and we have on occasions seen a bat in our garden flitting over the pond.

It would be impossible not to be aware of the constant reports in the media of wholesale damage to the environment with a constant decline in wildlife resulting in many creatures being on the brink of extinction. A substantial amount of this damage is caused by destruction of the natural habitat. The UK government itself has indicated a need for everyone to care for nature. Developments such as this fly in the face of the recognized need. Do we not have a responsibility to preserve and care for wildlife areas such as this.

Birds may nest and rear their chicks only in the summer months, however they are still there in the winter, searching for food and roosting. More importantly please think of this, creatures are hibernating and insects changing from eggs to adults ready to emerge in the spring. Let us now consider the hibernating hedgehog deep in slumber. Take a moment to allow your mind to see that hedgehog, warm, safe in its winter home, when suddenly a digger bucket slices through its nest, the confused, terrified hedgehog, possibly injured, tries to run if it can until the bucket descends again. This is repeated time and time again. This is the grim reality of building development.
