Hi Jack,

Thanks for the supplementary plans. From looking at the plans more, the site plan doesn't tally with the elevation which shows the two storey element being built in place of the existing single storey side garage. Given this, the application is invalid, would you be able to submit a corrected site plan?

Given the confusion this will have created for neighbours who view the plans we have to re-advertise the application and re-start the 8 week deadline on the application, also. This is what the current proposed site plan shows:-
