

Spinney Cottage
Side Extension
Change of Use
Heritage Statement
May 2015

This cottage was built in approximately 17th century, as we understand as a farm workers cottage.

The main structure (walls and roof) does not appear to have been altered since it was built.

Windows and doors have been sympathetically replaced over the years and are in reasonable condition.

The proposed extension is designed so that it does not detract from the architectural features of the original structure.
