Hi Charlie,

I am only in the office until the end of today and I do not think I will have received the final comments from our drainage engineers or have sufficient time to update the report before I leave. Therefore, I am happy with the proposed extension until the 4th January 2019. This will enable the report to be updated with the latest comments from engineers and to secure sign off from my team leader following the Christmas break.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you wish to discuss.

Many thanks,
David

Dear David,

Just a quick query as to confirm whether you are now in a position to issue the Decision for this application, following the clarification over the drainage details shared earlier in the week?

I note that our extension of time expires today, and if you feel a decision is unlikely to be issued over the Christmas break, then Friday 4th January would seem to be an appropriate extension. I confirm that we would be content to agree to an extension up to and including this date.

I look forward to hearing from you

Kind regards
Charlie

Dear Charlie,

That is fine please keep us updated on progress with this one so we can make sure engineers have capacity to provide comments.

Many thanks,
David

Claire, David,

We are having difficulty procuring the plan quickly (it's that time of year!), so we would like to extend by a further week if we can, to 21st December? I hope that we will be in a position to come back to you next week with something.

I trust that this extension is acceptable, but grateful if you could confirm by return.

Kind regards
Charlie

Charlie,

I've checked with our technical support team and if it is a different red edge then it wouldn't be eligible for a free go.

As discussed, please could you agree an extension in time until the 14th December to allow time for submission of the additional details. Please copy me into emails in the next few days.

Kind regards

Claire
