Subject: BN/128/19/OUT - Land Adjacent to Highfield House Yapton Road Barnham

Dear Amy,

I haven't been officially consulted on this application, but a member of the archaeology community has suggested that it needs a look. Apologies if this is inappropriate or coming too late.

Although the site contains no known archaeological interest, it lies in a location on the coastal plain that has been demonstrated to have been particularly attractive to later prehistoric and later occupation, and is of such a size that related features and deposits are likely to be present. In the circumstances it would be reasonable to require that the site be evaluated prior to development in order that anything of interest that it does contain might be suitably preserved. This process would be most appropriately secured through the imposition of a standard planning condition on any grant of planning permission.

Best wishes,

James
