Dear Sir,

Planning Application BN/12/11
Mr G Husband

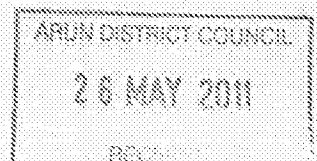

I object to the construction which is the subject of the above application on the following grounds:

1. Scholars Row was a redevelopment of a former school, and consists of three new houses of similar design and the old school house, all grouped around a central lawn and a fine London Plane tree. The development is of the highest quality, and obtained a design award from the Arun District Conservation Area Advisory Committee (copy attached). Each of the new houses and the Old School House has a private garden separated from the central close by wooden fences of similar material.
2. The Old School House has an additional small area of grass between the house itself and the wall separating it from the main Yapton Road. It is the stated intention of the new owners to build a 1 metre high brick wall separating this grass area from the central close. This planning application is not for the wall itself, which Mr Husband states that he intends to build anyway, but for an additional 60 cm of ironwork on top of the wall.
3. I believe that the building of the wall itself is unfortunate - a wooden fence as everywhere else on the development would have been more appropriate - but that the additional ironwork comprising this application would be wholly inappropriate and out of keeping with the homogeneity of Scholars Row. I ask the Planning Committee to protect this award-winning development from a tasteless mistake.

Yours faithfully,

As it is, now.

Imagine this with 6ft of wall and ornamental ironwork across its front.
