FAO: Mr D Easton

Dear Mr Easton,

The provision and installation of a 54,000 litre stored water facility for firefighting would meet with the requirements for an alternative water supply for firefighting and be acceptable by west Sussex Fire and Rescue Service. The plans indicate there is a hard standing area within 10 metres of the storage tank to give the fire appliance access.

What I would request is fitting a 4" British BSRT connection to the storage tank, this will enable us to connect our hard wall suction hoses and be able to suck the water out using equipment on the fire appliance rather than relying on gravity feed that would give much less supply and may not keep the fire appliance supplied with water whilst firefighting.

There are various companies that could make and supply an adaptor for this. I have attached two companies that I know can provide them and give you advise.

Fire Hosetech - <https://www.firehosetech.co.uk/contact-us/>

Or Delta Fire - <https://www.deltafire.co.uk/>

They are both very experienced and helpful with these matters.

Regards

Ian Stocks
