Subject: Further issues Land South of Barnham Station

Good Morning Mr Cole,

Extremely sorry to have to email you again, however we feel you need to be aware of even more issues with the sewage right next to this proposed development. We allowed Engineers through our garden at around 7.30pm last night as they needed to test the water in the Rife, for ammonia levels. They are having to pump sewage into it as their pumps cannot cope with the amount, due to the rainfall. The surface water is filling the foul water capacity.

Further Engineers arrived and were still working with their torches at 11.30pm last night, we could hear gushing of the sewage being filtered into the Rife, with our windows shut!

This morning residents of the new Redrow development in Barnham are suffering the same, with their toilets backed up with sewage, unable to flush it.

Please understand what will happen if another 200 hundred homes are built right next to the Rife, we will be back to 2012 when our and others homes, were under 2ft of sewage and water.

Kind Regards,

Sydnee & Richard Kalinski
