Simon / Mark

Further to receipt of your email dated 26th June 2018, including Bernie Harverson's report please find attached an email, below, from the neighbour at Birchwood House. He has been undertaking a process of tree removal - and as stated in the email - intends to fell the trees mentioned in the report.

It therefore would appear unnecessary to provide a Method Statement & Tree Protection Plan. We would therefore request that the objection is removed.

Please let me know if you need any further information to support this.

Kind regards

Angus

Angus,

As per our telephone conversation earlier this morning :

It is my intention to fell the pine tree at the front of my property, and likewise the very tall one immediately to the rear.

The front tree has been poorly pruned and is now in a lop sided and sorry state. It is also a concern in the way that it has grown over the garage of the cottage at the roadside and almost (if it doesn't already) reaches out over the cottage itself. there is a constant danger of falling cones etc injuring the residents as they occupy their garden. There also appears to be more deadwood than live in it and it sheds cones and branches regularly. In short it has most likely reached the end of it's best years.

The tree behind the house was recently pruned also as there were a number of lower limbs which had grown out to a position where they were actually brushing the house and the glass roof of my conservatory. Sadly the people who did the work have taken matters to an extreme and have left just a crown atop of a tall bare pole. This has revealed a worrying list of the main trunk towards my house and I think safety concerns mean that this tree must come down too.

In short it was my intention to remove both of these trees and now that I am informed of the report from the consultant arboriculturist I felt that I should state this intention so as to obviate the need for any further reports/statements.

With Regards,
Tristan Thwaites,
Birchwood House.
