Dear Michael

Thank you for your email.

The 7th August is acceptable. However, we have somewhat reached an impasse on these matters and would ask that in order to move things forward our engineer and client meet on site with yourself and Paul to bottom out these issues.

Can you please let us know your availability and Paul's for a meeting on site ?

Your help is very much appreciated.

Kind regards

In line with Government advice, Thrive have been transitioning to working from home for most of the team. We have access to all our systems remotely and we continue to provide our clients with the support they need without interruption. We have a small core team in the office (working in segregated areas), to manage day to day essentials such as IT support, plotting and scanning large format drawings.

We are currently utilising Microsoft Teams, Zoom or Skype for remote video conferencing and meetings.

Our main landline number remains active and is diverted to our remote reception where messages can be taken and passed on. Emails remain the most efficient means of communication or calls directly to mobile numbers.

I hope you are well.
Further to our engineer's email sent to you on 17th July, please would you be so kind and propose a new determination date, so that we have time to respond to any comments once we receive them?

Many thanks
