Dear Maria,

Thank you for your email.

Regarding the details of the joinery: they are the exact replica of the ground floor elevation of the main facade. The carpenter will copy these in exact proportion. Hence the best guide is the photographic detail of the main facade's ground floor columns and parapet. Photos in detail close up of both are attached.

The West greenhouse was not pulled down as it was in major disrepair and near collapse, due to neglect, at the time of our purchase in 1996 and the subsequent main renovation of Barnham Court. It was similar to the existing South conservatory and was not in keeping with the 17th architecture of Barnham Court. We will try and locate some old photographs if we have any but this is going back many years.

Kind regards,

-Andrew

Dear Andrew,

Thank you for your email.

Paint Colours can be satisfactory, however Details of Joinery should be submitted in drawings to scale 1:10.

It would be immensely helpful if you can provide the pictures of western conservatory which has been pulled down.

Kind regards

Maria
