Hi Maria

Thank you for you email.

With the greatest of respect, you have duty of care as a LA planning officer in respect of my clients application, your reasons for potentially refusing this application are subjective and would appear from what you said, to be influenced by your workload.

Your old workload is not an excuse to refuse this application. All applications should be treated equally, irrespective of merit and your workload, all applications are serious to the applicant.

You say you will consult on amended ideas, so please feel free to comment on my ideas, as I have put something constructive forward.

Re-submitting is a waste of time for both my client and ADC and your workload.

I understand that following a refusal we are entitled to a pre-app enquiry on a revised scheme, so why not give it now on my proposed amendments, and save ADC time.

If you are not happy with the revised ideas that's fine, but please support your reasons in an objective way.

I would point out that we have had no objections to the application.

This application provides much needed accommodation to the 5YHN in ADC and potentially providing jobs in a post Covid economic situation.

I would hope that you can support my amended design, subject to further development.

Kind regards

Ivon

Dear Ivon,

Thank you for your email.

I have already made it clear that in this stage, working from home and I have already two of them which are returning around but for more serious reason I can't accept amendments.

This application we have to decide as it was submitted and as I have explained Ryan I am willing to consult on your amended sketches But in the end you have to re-submit a new application.

I have an old workload which happened because of changes and a couple of committee reports.

We are not allowed to do it now.

Kind regards

Maria

Dear Maria

I understand you are not happy with the elevations for the above application.

It needs some further development but would you accept in principle the amended design attached.

The idea is to put two gables on the corner to make an architectural statement and blend in with the existing surroundings, I think it works.

This would be a simple substitution if are happy to support the application rather than waste time re-submitting.

I can see no reason why you would need to reconsult on this amendment as we have no objections.

Happy to give an extension of time if necessary, we still have 2 weeks left.

If you are happy with this I will get amended drawing to you by Monday 6th July.

Kind Regards

Ivon
