Dear Sirs

I note that the applicant has confirmed that the application is for 6 people and not 6 bedrooms.

In the event of this application being granted and then in the event of the applicant / tenants breaking the agreement what provision is there for the licence to be revoked by the Planning ?

In all honesty there is not many single people living alone and the applicant finding 6 single people with no partners to share a house seems a bit of an impossible find in my mind !

Please not my objection to the application.
