Mr Temple

I live at no 15 Newhall Close directly next to the premises subject to the above planning application which replaces an earlier version that was withdrawn. Although at this stage I do not wish to make a formal comment about the application I wondered if you were able to clarify a couple of points.

In the revised plans Bedroom 3 does not appear to have any windows in it is that possible?

Bedroom 4 which appears to be about 9m x 5m seems to only have a small window at the northern end if I am reading the plans correctly.

In the original application there was a dormer window in Bedroom 3 and several more windows in both sides of Bedroom 4.

My concern is that perhaps the plans submitted do not show how the building will actually look. Can you confirm that Velux type windows do not require planning permission just compliance with building regulations? I fear that to give light to these rooms and perhaps Bedroom 1 as well Velux windows will be fitted wherever the applicant wishes.

Is it possible that this could occur and if it is the applicants intention to put those openings in should they not be shown on the application?

Many thanks

Ian Barnett
