Hi Simon,

The extension is 7.9m the hatch area is smaller because there is a temporary building at the rear of the existing property and this is shown on the os map. Hope this helps cheers

Many Thanks

Dear Jack,

I'm having a few issues with the plans and wondered if you could assist

- The length of the building on the existing ground floor plan and on the existing side elevation (measured at ground floor) is 15.3m;
- The length of the building on the proposed ground floor plan and on the proposed side elevation (measured at ground floor) is 23.2m;
- This suggests a 7.9m deep two storey rear extension;
- The length of the whole building on Drawing 04 is maybe 22.75m;
- Also the red hatched area as shown on Drawing 04 (which I assume to be the extension) is only 4.2m long;
- Even adding the next un hatched section of the building, the length is only 7m.

Can you look into this for me please.

Kind Regards
