I am sorry, It was not my intention to push the date back but I have to attend the Development Control Committee next week which has meant that I have had to move things around.

Kind Regards

Dear Simon

Next Friday is the 16th November the very end of the week. You appear to have pushed this back

Why are we being pushed back yet again. So we won't see anything till the week commencing 19th Nov. You stated in your email "I have set time in my diary to write the report during week commencing 12th November."

I do find it unacceptable that with a dangerous structure than you are not prioritising this application. Clearly you are happy for the risk to remain longer than necessary

Your email below is not really answering the questions posed in our email, but skirts over them putting the onerous on the applicant to make further decisions late in the day, on pre-commencement elements.

You need to work with the applicant on this and not place obstacles, where they are not really necessary, so information should be made available now.

Regards

Phil
