Re planning for Bognor seafront

Dear Sir

I am writing to put forward my objections for toilets proposed for the sea front.

We already have toilets on the sea front. So why cannot they be regenerated, they are underground and out of sight. They were put out of use because some undesirables were in there. To me that is no excuse for other people's bad behaviour. We certainly don't agree with such an ugly building on our sea front. It's more like something from a concentration camp, and I thought the idea was to improve our sea front.

Besides which a promenade is for leisure not for ugly buildings plenty of room in a car park for that.

There could be a nice area in the existing fore shore for toilets. For baby changing and the handicapped, which I am sure, would be welcomed.

I remember another building being pulled down, unnecessarily a few years ago, now there is nowhere for anybody to shelter when we have the sudden shower or storm. It's sad to see people running to try and get to some sort of shelter at those showery days.

Yours faithfully

Audrey J Reynolds
