Dear Kathryn,

Thank you for your email.

Further to your request, the proposed planting scheme will provide approximately 5–6 plants per square metre, in line with typical landscaping densities for low-maintenance amenity areas.

The planting area will include approximately 20–25 plants in total, comprising a mix of hardy, pollinator-friendly species such as lavender, salvia, and hardy geranium.

Indicative spacing will be around 35–45cm between plants to allow for healthy establishment and coverage.

The selected species are widely available, low-cost, and low-maintenance, ensuring the scheme is sustainable and can be maintained effectively over the required period.

I trust this provides the clarification required, but please let me know if any further information is needed.

Kind Regards

John Ferguson BSc (Hons), PG Dip TP, MRTPI

Dear Mr Ferguson,

I would be grateful if you could provide further details in respect of the planting scheme. Could you provide an indication of how many plants will be planted, or how many plants per square metre of each variety will be utilised?

Many thanks,

Kathryn Welch
