Hello Daniel

Francis Oppler is away at the moment so your message was passed on to me. I am an Arun District Councillor working with Francis. The land you mention is owned by Arun District Council and used by the Community Centre. The Community Centre is not owned by West Sussex County Council, it owned by the users. It cannot have any permanent buildings or structures on it as the there is a major sewer pipe underneath.

I am not aware of any change of use, but if you speak to Carol Fullick at Community Centre she will tell you if she has any plans for change. Any changes will have to get permission from ADC as landowner and will have to go through the planning process. So you will have an opportunity to state your views.

I hope this answers your question, but if you have any further queries do not hesitate to contact me.

Best wishes

David Biss
