I would have to agree with Francis oppler as a near by resident I know that parking is a big issue in this area. Lots of houses have been converted in to flats over the years in this area and the roads are not big enough to take the sheer number of cars as it is.I think that building 10 flats on that plot is not a good move as most house holds have 2 cars so 10 flats means potentially 20 extra cars to park.

Regards.
