Dear Tina

Report on the Large Tulip Tree in Your Rear Garden

Further to my visit, I provide the following findings with reference to the above tree.

T1 : This Large Tulip tree was reduced and reshaped some 10 to 15 years ago. The upper canopy is made up of new reactionary growth as a result of this reduction. The tree is in good health and full vigour. There is minimal dead wood within the canopy.

Due to the tree's close proximity to your property and neighbouring properties, I recommend the following works.

Reduce the entire canopy back the old pruning points. This will involve a reduction in height of approximately 4 to 5 Meters. The Lateral spread will also need to be brought back in to match (approx. 2.5m reduction in width all around). All major dead wood needs removing.

The above has been recommended on grounds of health and safety. If you require more details they will gladly be provided.
