Subject: 11 Beechlands Close, East Preston

Hello,

I've tried to email environmental health but emails are coming back saying their inbox is full.

Today, Sunday the 9th of December, scaffolders were at work hurriedly removing the scaffolding from over the large new build at 11 Beechlands Close in East Preston.

I understand that they should not have been working on scaffolding in a residential area on a Sunday.

This morning I overheard a neighbour asking the scaffolders why they were doing this and making such a noise, on a Sunday.

I heard the scaffolder give my neighbour a mouthful of abuse and tell him he couldn't care less about what people think of him doing this on a Sunday.

I felt sorry for my poor neighbour who had every right to ask why they were doing this on a Sunday.

I strongly believe this hurried scaffolding work was done in response to the fact that they've had to reapply to planning to keep the dark grey tiles, which are not consistent with the consent they received for the roof tiles. This would also explain the fact that so many workers were evident this past week, even more hurriedly completing the roof tiling.

I believe they have done this to complicate any decision to change the roof tiles to those agreed to in the original planning consent.

I trust the relevant department in the council will look into this and take appropriate action against the builders/contractors responsible.

I also trust this information will be passed on to those who are responsible for taking account of the objections to the grey roof tiles, which don't comply with planning consent.

I truly feel that the builders/contractors/owners of this build are playing games with the council, since day one, to see what they can get away with, which should not be allowed.

Regards,
M. Shepherd
