Hi Juan,

I spoke with my neighbour last night and she's happy to put something in writing to confirm that she's fine with the amendment to the length of the extension.

[REDACTED] She then had a client at 7:30 so I will have to wait until this evening to go over again to get this from her.

If however it is possible to get this through without me having to bother her again that would be great. They're lovely neighbours, who have even removed a tree to accommodate this extension, but are going through a difficult time personally, so I feel bad having to go around there again about something that probably seems fairly insignificant to them.

That said, I will go and get the written confirmation if you tell me it is vital.

Thanks for your help.

Kind regards,
Emma Goff
