

Planning: EP/3/22/PL

Main Objection

Adverse effect on the residential amenities of neighbours by reason of noise and disturbance.

I would like to add to the previous publicised concerns of the other neighbours about the planning application above. That now, having experienced the restaurant garden with groups of diners enjoying themselves this unfortunately does have an impact and creates noise and disturbance. We are encouraged, in today's very busy and sometimes stressful world to get outside and if luckily enough have a back garden use it to be able to retreat, get in touch with nature, and try to get peace and improve both our physical and mental wellbeing. However as shown last year (when trading was granted for a limited period), when the restaurant garden is busy it really does affect those in earshot and with some even ending up retreating into their house's and closing doors in order to get some peace, this is not desirable on any level, no matter how small, gardens should be maintained and treated as little oasis's where one can unwind and relax without overhearing diners conversations.
