Morning Amber

I hope you're well, please could you substitute the current proposed drawings with the one attached for the above mentioned project. This simply includes a minor tweak to the east elevation from brick to render.

Kind regards,

Matthew

Morning

I believe the elevations are labelled correctly in that they should be labelled the direction in which they are facing, please feel free to give us a call if needs be.

Kind regards

Good morning,

I have attached an annotated existing floor plan and elevations for the above site.

I may be having a bad day, but I think with the North point, the North elevation should be labelled South elevation?

Can you take a look and let me know if I am just having a bad day?

Thanks

Daun
