Thank you for your email.

In my colleague's absence, I believe that the wrong form and fee had been submitted as you had made an application to remove or modify a planning condition (a S73 application) but in fact you were intending to discharge conditions 5,6 and 7 on EP/121/25/PL. The fee for this type of application is £309 but we received a credit card payment for £608.00 on 08 July so I will arrange a refund back to the card on which the fee was paid for £299.00 . This will take about a week to be credited back onto the card. Please can you complete the application form for discharging the condition.(I have attached a copy) so that I can swap it over and proceed with the validation.

As I am on leave next week, please forward it to planning.responses@arun.gov.uk quoting the reference number so a colleague can deal with it.

Yours sincerely

Dear Sir/Madam

I had emailed last week to ask why this additional fee was being requested as my client has paid and has not informed me that a refund has been issued.

Please can you therefore advise me of the situation.

Best regards,
