Dear Mr Easton,

Kindly accept this email as an agreement to the new stated extension of time.

Whilst we acquiesced to the second extension of time we feel this application is taking far too long in particular after an outline planning application had been granted.

We feel all efforts are made from the design team in responding to you as speedily as possible.

However, during or after the new consultation period, we would be grateful if you could contact us should there be any concern/s. We are at a slight loss as to why you have to make another consultation when your last concerns were addressed to be in compliance.

Regards,

Sarif Easmon-Dura

Dear Mr Easmon-Dura,

The submitted plans have now been substituted into the application and the alterations to the scheme have been included in the weekly list for re-advertisement.

The new consultation/advertisement period will run until the 4th January 2018. Therefore, if a recommendation for approval is made the earliest this application can be presented at Development Control Committee will be the 14th February 2018. Therefore, I would be grateful if you could provide written confirmation of your agreement to an extension of time until the 16th February 2018.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you wish to discuss this matter further.

Yours Sincerely,

David Easton
