On the original plan we intended to recycle and reuse the existing tiles, however on removal it became apparant, very quickly that the tiles were very fragile the builder described them as biscuits. They are also no longer manufactured as they were the green mineral tiles so matching is impossible. The surrounding buildings have a mixture of finishes on the roofs but we have found a clay tile close its an Marley eternite single cant Mixed Brindle Tile which we,ve submitted a tile to the local planning office already. The reason we've chosen this tile is not only does it match in with the locality but it's readily available as other tiles we are being quoted 8-10 weeks lead time.
