Dear Ms. Gardner

Thank you, I have had a look at the revised Planting Plan 731-L01 Rev.B and have the following comments:-

1. The hedging and shrubs lining either side of the access drive do not belong to the applicant therefore I do not see why it is on their landscaping plan.
 2. The trees denoted "to be retained" along the Northern boundary similarly do not belong to the applicant, bar one small leylandii in a raised bed inside Mr.Salvidges property. There are also three trees on the plan within the western boundary of Mr.Salvidges house behind the 18 Olearia x hasstii to the right of his entrance that are not in existence OR specified as new planting?
 3. The six or so Leylandi that were planted on top of the dividing privet hedge between myself at 42 and the applicants land are curiously not marked on the plan despite now having grown above legal hedge height by some 3 ft. and are intended to be left to grow into trees.
- I suggest a site visit with the landscaping planners to ascertain the situation regarding the ownership of trees they have illustrated i.e. those within Mr.Salvidges' boundary which I understand is not part of the development and therefore should not be on the plan either.
